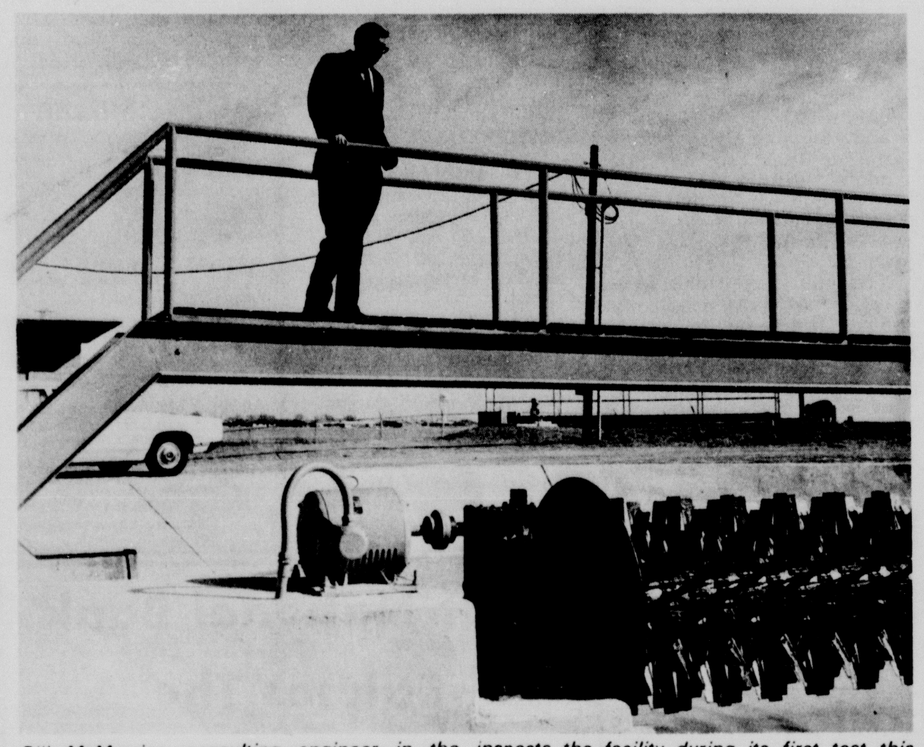
Plans Laid For New Hospital



Bill McMorries, consulting engineer in the construction of the city's new sewer plant, inspects the facility during its first test this week. The plant is located southeast of Canyon.

BY TROY MARTIN

First action toward construction of a 50-bed hospital in Canyon was begun Saturday night with the meeting of a study committee in the Gold Room on the West Texas State University campus.

Mrs. Lois Hull was named temporary chairman of the committee of some 18 persons who will study the need for the facility.

If constructed, the new hospital would cost about $1.5 million.

Proponents of the hospital hope to secure matching Hill-Burton funds for the construction.

Neblett Memorial Hospital is currently operated by a foundation. Clarence Eugene Thompson is president of the foundation. H. R. Fulton, Jr., is vice president and Miss Ruth Cross is Secretary.

Other board members are Mrs. R.A. Neblett, Bill Sternenberg, O.H. Rhalfs, Clarence Beckman, A.W. Lair and Mrs. Jim White, Sr.

Thompson told the group that the foundation has been advised by architects that it would not be feasible to add on to the present hospital. No Hill-Burton funds could be obtained for such an addition.

Concensus was that, although the present hospital will serve the needs of the community at present, it will be inadequate within the next five years.

"If we expect to have a larger, more modern plant, we have to start from scratch," Thompson told the group. "The board feels we need a new hospital."

Thompson said about 4½ years will elapse beween the time talk starts and actual completion of the hospital.

He said a minimum of 10 acres will be needed as a site.

Thompson said the board decided on a 50-bed hospital partly because growth of the community will require such a plant within a few years and partly because Hill-Burton funds are not available for smaller plants. He said 50-bed would be a minimum.

He noted that modern facilities will be needed if the community is to attract additional doctors or even retain the ones who are here.

The present hospital has about 60 percent occupancy, he declared. "This is pretty acceptable for a small hospital," he went on.

Neblett presently has five physicians and a dentist on the staff who are residents of Canyon plus some others from out of town.

Thompson offered five

Cynthia Byars Named Miss Irish Rose

CYNTHIA BYARS

Miss Canyon was crowned Miss Irish Rose during ceremonies capping annual St. Patrick's Day festivities in Shamrock Tuesday.

Cynthia Byars, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Byars of Canyon, was crowned as the 24th honoree.

Two weeks ago she was crowned Miss Canyon.

Miss Byars, 17, is a student at Canyon High School and was sponsored at Shamrock by the Canyon Study Club.

First runnerup honors went to Jody Hobdy, 17, of Canadian, and second runner-up was Leigh Nall, 16, of Wellington.

Miss Byars was chosen from a field of 15 contestants for the honor.

Judges at the contest included Donny Anderson, football player for the Green Bay Packers, Mrs. Jean Moore, dean of women at West Texas State University, and Joe Brown, assistant farm and ranch director for an Amarillo television station.

New Canyon Sewer Plant Finally Begins Operation

After three years of haggling with Washington red tape and construction problems, the city saw its new sewage treatment plant put into action this week.

Workers opened the sewer line into the horse-shoe shaped plant southeast of the city Monday morning and the plant was expected to be put into full operation Wednesday morning.

Operation of the plant was due in November, but construction problems delayed the finishing of the $196,706 facility five months.

But, before that the plant's instigation had been delayed by federal red tape.

The long road to construction of the plant began when city commissioners first authorized a study of the old facilities in 1967 and McMorries and Associates, engineering consultants, compiled a 10-page report.

The first plan by commissioners was for a contact-stabilization plant at the present site, using the old facilities plus an addition.

Cost of the first plan was about $279,400.

Another plan called for a similar design. Two other plans were also presented.

None were accepted by commissioners, who felt another plant--one of more modern design--would fit the needs of Canyon.

Commissioners called a bond issue of about $200,000 in the spring of 1968 and then applied for federal funds from the Federal Water Pollution Control Administration totaling $75,150.

But, a Presidential freeze of certain federal funds caused Canyon's request to be delayed until the spring of 1969.

Another stumbling block in the starting of the plant was delay of issuance of a permit by the state for the plant site.

A public hearing at the time resulted in several persons arguing the effluent from the present plant was

Board Warned Of Drug Threat, Asked To Initiate Deterrent

A Canyon physician and school board member ominously warned of a predicted rise in narcotics use among students and told the board Tuesday night Canyon must begin a drug education program immediately.

Citing recent medical reports, Dr. Dudley Moore predicted that in the next few years "30 to 40 per cent of grammar school kids are going to be using narcotics."

"If we don't get going here we're really going to hurt ourselves," Dr. Moore said. "Every time I get medical literature, this is the prediction."

The doctor said Canyon should already have a program of information about the hazards of drug usage.

"These kids have got to know what it's about," he said.

Dr. Moore told the board that drug use "is not just in Amarillo--it's here too."

"It's there (in the schools) and it's going to be there," he said. "Ignorance is no excuse."

School Superintendent Jerry Jacobs agreed, but urged a cautious approach to the educational aspects of drug information.

"People who've gone into this program nationwide tell us the least effective way in junior high and high school is for us to have people lecture or show movies to entire groups," he said. "They tell us the most effective way is to organize an instructional program--maybe introduced in biology."

Jacobs said the small group approach is thought to be the most effective.

"Whatever it takes to sell it, let's sell it," Dr. Moore said.

"We've got to do some crash program for information," Jacobs said. "There's no point in anybody kidding themselves about it. You can normally watch this (drug usage) going on in metropolitan areas and then look two, three, four or five years ahead and see what to expect in the rural areas. The closer you are to a metropolitan area, the sooner you will get there."

No action was taken on the doctor's suggestion.

The school board set a meeting for April 7 to discuss with former members of the Umbarger School Board the possible future of the Umbarger schools and their possible use as public facilities.

Umbarger's school was consolidated last summer with the Canyon Independent School District, and at that time, the Canyon board indicated the Umbarger school might be kept open just a school year.

"I feel like we need to officially make a decision on the school at Umbarger," Jacobs said. "I think as a common courtesy we should meet with the former board to get their thinking before we make a decision."

Jacobs said if the school at Umbarger--which now has an enrollment of 41--is discontinued, some use for the building needs to be found.

The board members also discussed the possibility of adding a girls' track program to the athletic curriculum.

Jacbos said several schools in this area field girls' track teams although the sport is not recognized by the University Inter-

Few In Attendance At Demo Meeting

The Randall County Democratic Executive Committee was hampered by a lack of people at their meeting Monday night, but managed enough people there to draw canddidate's places on the ballot for the May primary.

Max Sherman will be number one on the ballot in the race for State Senator, with Nancy Moyer 2, Jack Hazlewood 3 and Walter Knapp 4.

The race for Judge of the 181st District will have J. M. Kolander 1 and Don Dean 2, with Ralph Yarborough 1 in the U. S. Senate contest and Lloyd Bentsen 2.

Crawford Martin will top the ballot in the race for Texas Attorney General with David Brown 2. For Commissioner of the General Land Office, Jerry Sadler will be number one, Fred Williams 2, and Bob Armstrong 3.

For Railroad Commissioner, Connie Lawson will be 1, and Ben Ramsey 2. In the race for associate justice of the Supreme Court of Texas, Matt Davis will be first, Hawthorne Phillips 2 and James Denton 3.

In the contest for Democratic Chairman of Randall County, Robert G. Green 1, Carrol R. Crain 2, and Marion Bruce 3. For Precinct Chairman, Prec. #7, W. B. Harris 1 and A. W. Lair 2, and Prec. #13, J. B. Bechtol Jr. 1 and Donald Elwell 2.

The committee set 7:30 p.m. May 9 as the date for their county convention but did not finalize a site. The excutive committee will meet again March 30 to conclude preparations for the primary.

Even Though Attendance Was Low, Division Enthusiasm Generated

About 12 women turned out Monday night to form a women's division of the Canyon Chamber of Commerce and enthusiastically vowed they can organize the project.

Undismayed by the small number present, the women called another meeting for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the First National Bank and said they will call every available woman in town to join.

Chamber president Eddie Knowles was at first obviously let down by the poor turn-out, but the women's enthusiasm soon convinced him a women's division will be a reality.

The women volunteered to make telephone calls to women involved in clubs, city and county offices, the hospital and public schools to ask them to join the women's division.

A formal women's division with officers was not formed at the meeting.

Mrs. Irene McKinster, president of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce Women's Division, appeared at the Monday meeting and explained the organization and functioning of the Hereford group.

"The problem here tonight is about the type problem we've got here in Canyon," Knowles said, expressing his dismay at the turn-out. "We have a lot of men who are willing to work, but unity is what we lack. I was hoping we'd have a lot more ladies here tonight."

Knowles said Canyon merchants do not work together.

"Without unity, how can we expect to get Canyon people trading with us?" he asked.

Knowles said he has hopes the women's division will provide some unity among the town's merchants.

Mrs. McKinster said the Hereford women's division was started about two years ago and now has about 70 members with a budget of about $900.

She said the president of the women's division is appointed by the president of the chamber of commerce, but that the women's division is a separate entity.

Dues per member are $10, plus $36 to join the regular chamber of commerce, she said.

Mrs. Edith Nicholas suggested the women present at the meeting call various other women and urge them to come to Tueseday night's meeting.

Fielding questions from the women, Mrs. McKinster said the Hereford women's division has undertaken several projects.

She said they handle all physical arrangements for the annual Hereford chamber banquet. They also work with beautification projects and with a satelite school for children.

Two directors serve the women's division. Under each is three committees, concerned with such things as public affairs, education, beautification, telephoning, and the banquet.

Mrs. McKinster said one main advantage of the women's division is that it can handle chores which will allow the men's division more time to seek industry and work on the city's

Lawyer Counsels Students On Objection Deferment

Courts are changing the grounds on which a prospective draftee can claim status as a conscientious objector.

This is what Richard Clarkson, Odessa attorney, told a group of some 50 college students on the campus at West Texas State University Monday night.

Clarkson's appearance was sponsored by the WTSU Freedom Forum.

The Odessa attorney, who styled himslef as something of a professional draft dodger, said that until recently CO status could be obtained only by those who belonged to a religious group which was against war in any form. He gave the Quaker religion as an example.

He said courts have now held that a CO need not be totally against war but against a particular war.

Clarkson cited the case of the US vs. Sisson in Massachusetts in which the court held that it is not contitutional to excuse from

Lindsey, Mrs. Warwick Named Citizen Of Decade And Year

Mayor Paul Lindsey was named Man of the Decade and Mrs. Grace Warwick was named Citizen of the Year by the Canyon Chamber of Commerce during its annual banquet Wednesday night.

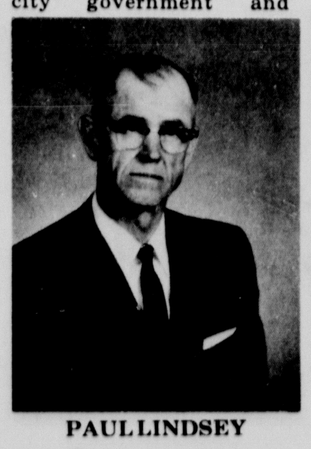
Lindsey, Canyon's mayor since 1966, was the first resident to receive the Man of the Decade award and plaque. He received the honor for his work in civic affairs throughout the 1960s. A special committee made the selection.

Mrs. Warwick, a Randall County historian, became the fourth woman in the history of the award to be named Citizen of theYear. She was honored for her work in 1969.

Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes was feature speaker at the chamber banquet, which attracted nearly 300 persons to the east dining hall of West Texas State University.

Barnes' speech was his third appearance in Canyon during the day Wednesday. Earlier he spoke to students at WTSU and then met Canyon residents during a reception at the Hunsley Hills Club.

Mayor Lindsey, active in city government and improvement projects throughout his residence in Canyon, was named Man of the Year for 1968 during last year's Camber banquet.



PAUL LINDSEY

MRS. GRACE WARWICK

The mayor has announced that he will not seek reelection this year.

Lindsey is a native of Newport in Jack County. He was five years old when the death of his mother left him an orphan.

His first job was shining shoes. His father was a trucker, and moved the family to Post while Lindsey was a small child.

The family moved to Slaton and then to Canyon in 1930 when Lindsey was 17.

He worked for his father hauling gasoline from Clovis to Slaton. Canyon became the base for the trucking firm.

Lindsey left the trucking business and worked as a mechanic for Western Sand & Gravel and then for Imperial Chevrolet Co.

In 1938 he worked as a mechanic for Hawks Motors, Inc., and then bought in as a partner in the firm in 1939. About the same time he began farming and raising live-

Republican Group Ribs Demo Committee

BY SAM ALLRED

The Randall County Republican Executive Committee met Monday night in the Randall County Courthouse with none of the previously exhibited in-fighting, limiting all sharp comments to poking fun at the Democrats.

Dr. Art Garner presided at the meeting in place of County Chairman Dick Brooks, who was out of the city. The meeting was called to satisfy requirements for the primary as specified by the Texas Election Code.

The most important order of business was the drawing of candidate's names for order on the election ballots. The ballots, as the result of the drawing will read:

For County Judge: Joseph Schley 1, J. Ernest Stroud 2; For County Commissioner, Precinct 2: John Fulgenz 1, Neil Braboy 2, Wayne Barfield 3; Precinct 4: Hugh Clark 1, Bill Butler 2; For Republican Chairman, Dick Brooks 1, Tom Ritchey 2; For Precinct Chairman,

FROM THE CANYON RIM

Two years ago Judge Carroll Brown said he wouldn't serve as county judge for $10,000 a year.

Commissioners court raised his salary to $10,200 from the county (the maximum) and this plus $2,580 from the state for acting as ex officio county school superintendent brought his annual pay check to $12,780.

This year after asking the people to promote him to a $25,000 a year district judgeship, Judge Brown has in effect asked that the pay of his successor be lowered to $10,200---a figure he disdained two years ago.

Judge Brown says he realized from the first that the county doesn't need an ex officio school superintendent and that he told the county trustees so from the outset.

He said he repeated his contention last year but that a petition is required to hold an election to abolish the office.

Even after the last common school district in the county (Umbarger) was annexed by Canyon Independent School District last July no petition was forthcoming to abolish the office and relieve the state of $2,580 annual expense.

Judge Brown announced for district judge and in a little more than two months initiated a petition designed to lower the pay of the county judge. Any action in this direction can, of course, not be consumated until after Judge Brown no longer holds the office.

Maybe nothing could have been done to abolish the office before Umbarger School District was dissolved. But the Umbarger district was dissolved last July and Judge Brown made no move for eight months.

He says no politics is involved in his action. Maybe this is true. If this IS true Judge Brown could underline this fact by making restitution for that portion of his salary paid him as ex officio school superintendent at a time during whch he says such an officer was not needed by this county.

I've noticed some campaign literature from various candidates on some desks in the county court house.

Some of the candidates distributing their literature in the court house are probably newcomers and might not know of the donny brook brought on by similar measures two years ago.

Bill Money, then tax assessor-collector, had his literature available in the tax office. Commissioner Bill Butler (Republican) took exception.

County Clerk Leroy Hutton (Republican) posted a picture of Ronald Reagan on his bulletin board and Commissioner B.R. Jones (Democrat) brought the house down.

Something like this just might happen again.

Richard Clarkson, an Odessa attorney, gave what amounted to a seminar on how to avoid the draft Monday night on the West Texas State University campus.

One professor who attended the meeting in post session discussion said it is up to the individual to decide whether a war is justifiable or not.

If this were so then the nation would never be able to defend itself. The same rule could be applied to almost all laws of the land and only chaos could result.

If the war in Vietnam is immoral then it is because we committed our young men then denied them victory and denied them the means to protect themselves.

We have allowed the enemy sanctuary from which to strike and then to return to safety.

I think another immoral aspect of the war in Vietnam is the fact that Haiphong harbor, source of 85 percent of the war material with which our soldiers are being killed, lies unscathed immune to attacks by our bombers.

But probably the most immoral thing of all is that draft evasion and disruption of selective service offices can be plotted and carried out with seeming immunity by some Americans while other American are dying in Vietnam for their country.

We could solve some of our dilemma by passage of a law to the effect that the President could commit troops in an emergency only for a certain length of time without a declaration of war from the Congress.

If no such declaration were made, then troops would be withdrawn.

The President would obviously be more careful in committing troops.

After a declaration by the Congress sedition and espionage could be dealt with by the full force of the law.

Our World

BY ANN BROWN

If there is a quicker way to lose friends than lending them money, it is telling them how to manage their affairs.

The United States was probably the most beloved nation on earth until the close of World War II. We had repeatedly answered our neighbors' cry for help, and had sacrificed multitudes of our finest young men in their defense.

Even the homeliest, most unprepossesing American doughboy could practically pick and choose among the lovely girls in the nations he visited. Life in America was the ultimate dream.

Millions of people around the world hoarded their meager savings and dreamed of passage of America as to The Promised Land.

Then came the Marshall Plan. We bombarded the majority of the nations of the world with money, materials, and machines they could neither comprehend nor assimilate.

Americans were offended when hungry natives rejected their wheat. But they had not the faintest notion what to do with white flour. They were about as receptive to much of our food as we would be to toasted grasshoppers and fried ants.

The assumption that Americans know all the answers is not generally shared outside the U. S.

For generations American missionaries have wrought miracles in foreighn countries. Yet they had almost no material things to share with the nationals. They shared with them, however, something far more precious: love, concern,and respect.

The cardinal rule of the missionary is to be careful not to destroy the native's idols. When the idol worshipper is convinced the living God has more to offer him, he will forsake his idols on his own initiative. The Christian missionary aspires to help people help themselves--not by destroying their self respect, but by enhancing it.

We are admonished to love our neighbors as ourselves. How many of us enjoy being made to feel stupid, inadequate, inefficient, and generally inferior. We usually avoid people who generate just one such attitude within us.

After years of showering our neighbors with money, and assuming that gives us the right to demand they adopt our manners, customs, and way of life is it any wonder they hate us, and scream "Yankee go home?"

Solomon said, "Withdraw thy foot from thy neighbor's house, lest he become weary of thee and hate thee' (Prov. 25:17). Our first President warned against entangling ourselves with foreign nations. Following such sage advice has been profitable to the U. S. for almost two centuries; we have forsaken it at our own peril.

President Nixon said he would sent to Congress next January a new foreign aid program recommended by a White House task force, asking for a new lending fund. The task force said there "must be" a substantial boost in U. S. aid to underdeveloped countries, but refused to specify how much money would be needed or how it would be used.

The task force did specify its new lending proposals: $1 billion for a new U. S. Development Bank through appropriations from Congress, and authority to borrow $2 billion from the public to be used as and when needed.

Thousands of the American farmers, who have been feeding the world, are being forced to sell their farm equipment and leave the land they love because the local banks literally do not have the money to lend them to finance another crop.Where is the justice in taking more than 3 billion American dollars--no questions asked--and lending them to economically deprived foreigners while many hard-working, deserving Americans are denied any loans at all? The Congressmen who approve such a program should be marked and remembered at the polls.

Thousands of American farmers, who can still raise the money for the move, are migrating to Mexico, Brazil, and Australia where restrictions and taxes are not so oppressive.

Before the U. S. government loses all friends at home and abroad, perhaps the "Yankees" should go home--and take their hard-earned money and unwanted advice with them.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Mr. Editor,

When I hear politicians, government officials, and news reporters commenting about how unsafe our streets have become in such places as Washington D.C., New York, Chicago, and other places, I am forced to wonder if this situation will ever occur in Canyon, Texas. Could this friendly, peaceful community be turned into a community where violent crimes of murder, rape, robbery and aggravated assault became an everyday affair? I shudder at the thought.

I am very thankful for the stand that the police and courts have taken in Potter and Randall County concerning drug addiction. Almost all authorities today agree that the rise in street and home robberies, and the rapid increase in over-all major crimes can be related to the intensifying problem of narcotics. The drug addict must have a constant flow of dollars in order to finance his habit. To get that money,he must prey on the community. According to the New York State Narcotics Addiction Control Commission the average heroin addict must steal $150 worth of merchandise every day to support a $30.50-a-day habit.

In this election year, it seems important to me to vote for candidates who support our local law enforcement officials. I am very thankful for the increased emphasis on adequately training the personnel who patrol our streets and guard our homes from criminals. We have lost and will continue to lose many fine police officers beccause we fail to support increases in salary and the upgrading of manpower.

Perhaps, we too -- as citizens -- need to take a look at our permissive attitudes and our frequent disrespect for law and authority. Somhow in our society many of us have found it fashionable to select the laws we wish to obey and disregard those we do not like. We can't expect anything but a spiraling crime rate when we encourage the militance of youthful rebels, black and white, by glorifying them with our news cameras. The situation will not get any better as long as we allow our public officials and judges to declare lurid movies, scenes of violence, or obscene printed materials as suitable material for our young people to feed upon through movies, books, and television.

It is my prayer that "the silent majority" of Canyon, Texas will remain awake to their responsibilities of continuing to support those candidates who advocate improvements in our police department and believing in effective and stern law enforcement against those who flaunt the laws of our land. Surely, each of us - as citizens - can do no less than to recognize the breakdown of proper instruction and discipline in our homes, our schools and our churches and do something about it. With all of us working together, perhaps we will always feel safe to walk the streets of our community, day or night.

Sincerely,
Ava Lacy

Peruvian CHS Student Learning About English

A Peruvian high school graduate, Jesus Hurtato, 18, is presently enrolled at Canyon High School where he is studying typing, English, American history, Spanish and choir in an effort to better learn the English language in hopes of enrolling at West Texas State University next January.

The youth finished high school in Peru in 1968 and will spend one year studying here in the high school level before enrolling at the University where his older brother, Angel, is a business law major at the junior level.

During the summer, Hurtado plans to travel to North Carolina to spend some time with his brother, Max who is involved with the United States Army there.

Hurtado has three younger brothers at home in his home town, Huancaye, Peru, and one sister, who is married. His father is a Peruvian businessman.

He says that Peru has a much different climate than Canyon, Texas and related that now Lima, Peru is basking in summer while his hometown (which is 150 miles away from Lima) is in the middle of winter.

He related that "schools here are different than in Peru---because there the method of teaching involves only the student, teacher and books---while here the teachers use additional films and slides to explain their subjects".

Having taken only the basic words in English while in Peru, Hurtado is finding it "some difficult" to keep up the pace of the classrooms here but finds that it is gradually becoming easier.

He said Peruvian students go to school from April to December and then have school vacation and their daily classes run from 8 to 12 noon and then from 2-5 p.m. with a two-hour lunch break to go home for meals. He finds this different in the United States where Canyon students go to classes from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. and have their lunch at school.

When he enters West Texas State next January, Jesus plans to study in biology. He said that he came here because of his brother. His brother, Angel, settled on coming to WTSU after spending a year in Chicago and going with the US Army two years because of being here on an immigrant visa.

Jesus is in Canyon on a "student visa" which allows for him to complete his four years of college here.

Angel and Jesus (pronounced Hey-Seus) share an apartment in Canyon and among other activities present musical programs featuring typical music of Peru in addition to the rock-n-roll music of the United States.

Angel sings and plays the tamborine and Jesus plays the guitar. The two brothers performed for Tuesday's regular noon luncheon of the Canyon Rotary Club at the American Legion Hall.

Native Music

PERUVIAN STUDENTS Jesus Hurtado, left, and his brother, Angel, presented native music from Peru as the program for the Canyon Rotary Club on Tuesday. The guests were introduced by Carroll Killingsworth, counsellor at Canyon High School.

WTSU Buffalo Gals Advanced As Sorority

Buffalo Gals, a woman's service organization at West Texas State University, is now a colony chapter of Gamma Sigma Sigma, national service sorority.

As a colony chapter, the organization will be pledging the national sorority, proving its desire to be active in service projects and its stability as a service organization.

The pledge period will last at least one semester but no longer than two semesters, a spokesman for the group said.

The 20 members of the sorority are required to devote at least 15 hours during a semester to service projects, the spokesman said.

Among the projects this semester are solicitations to provice a seeing eye-dog for a blind person and a kidney machine for an Amarillo woman.

I am for economy in our City government. I think city business should be run as nearly as possible like any good business is run. All big business is cutting down on unnecessary spending right now. Canyon's citizens are tightening their belts to pay as they go rather than spending more than is coming in. We might help by lowering taxes rather than thinking of something to spend it for. We do not need more bonded indebtedness right now.

Campus Renovation To Begin

The education building on the West Texas State University once operated as a training school for student teachers, will undergo a $200,000 remodeling and renovation this summer.

Bids will be opened for the remodeling project on April 9.

Virgil Henson, financial vice president of WTSU, said the 50-year-old building will undergo a modern facelifting.

Included in the remodeling will be replacement of windows, removal of partitions, replacement of black boards, rearrangement of office suites, construction of special use areas and painting.

Henson said the project is to begin about April 20 and be completed by Aug. 15.

While the building is remodeled, classes in teacher education and modern languages will meet either in the old administration building or in the new University complex south.

The project is the first renovation of the old building since it was opened in 1927. Several years ago, though, the auditorium and gymnasium were combined into classrooms and office spaces.

For many years, the building housed the WTSU demonstration school with grades one through 11 taught there.

FFA Wins Awards In Judging Meets

Several awards have been gained in recent judging contests in Houston and Pampa by the members of the Canyon High School Future Farmers of America, according to Marcus Phillips, sponsor.

At the Houston meet recently, CHS entered 32 barrows, 8 lambs, and one steer and 12 FFA boys made the trip. Sponsoring were Phillips and Glen Tucek.

Sixteen of the FFA barrows from Canyon placed in the show with one, owned by James Lamb, taking second in the same class with the overall grand champion of the show.

Two FFA members from CHS caught a calf in the "calf scramble"; and each received a $200 prize to purchase a registeredbeef heifer. They were Jim Lamb and Randall Smith. The beef heifers must be bought, fed and shown at the Houston contest next year.

The CHS livestock judging team was among 423 teams in contest on Saturday, which was the largest contest of its kind ever held in Texas.

The livestock team Mike Brietling, Rick Hales, Mike Trammell and Vince Wirt won second high in beef cattle judging and sixth high overall in the contest. Rick was second high individual overall among 1269 entries and will receive a $200 certificate for purchase of a registered beef heifer.

On March 10, the local group went to the Top of Texas judging events at Pampa where Mike Breitling was high individual in beef cattle and swine judging and third overall. Rick Hales was second high individual in beef cattle and tenth high overall in the Pampa contest.

The same livestock team was high in beef cattle judging, second high in swine and placed second as overall team in the contest with over 40 Panhandle teams participating.

Phillips related that the team will be gone this week end for judging contests in Sweetwater for the livestock team, dairy cattle, dairy products and meats judging.

LaGrone Funeral Chapel

Dear friends,

Recently we were asked if a person could make advance arrangements for his funeral.. select the desired vault and casket, determine details of the funeral, and place the required funds for that purpose in a local bank.

Such advance planning is feasible at most funeral homes and is especially sensible when there are no surviving relatives.

Respectfully,

Jerry N. LaGrone

Are you going to go through another year thinking you can't afford an Oldsmobile?

Our own surveys indicate that quite a few people think an Oldsmobile is out of their reach. They think it costs a lot more than it really does. Result? Many people buy an ordinary car and end up with a lot less car and value for their money.

It's so unnecessary, too, because Oldsmobile has many models that are priced right down with the so-called low-priced cars.

So why settle for the ordinary when you can step up to an Olds and all the value that an Olds represents.

Take this big, exciting Delta 88, for example. It starts out with a surprisingly modest price. Add to this the features that make it such an outstanding value—extras that are included in the modest price: ☐ Regular-gas Rocket V-8 ☐ Power Steering ☐ Power Brakes, front discs ☐ Nylon-loop carpeting ☐ Bias-Belted Tires ☐ Door Side-Guard Beams ☐ Hidden Radio Antenna ☐ Flo-Thru Ventilation ☐ Bigger, better riding 124" wheelbase. Check these extra values at your Olds dealer's today!

Panelists Define, Examine Art Direction

A panel discussion held Saturday afternoon in the Branding Iron Theatre highlighted the third part of West Texas State University's Fine Arts Festival.

Sponsored by Kappa Pi, the panel disussion featured Dr. Emilio Caballero, chairman of the department of art at WTSU; Peter Fox, managing director of the Amarillo Little Theater; Dr. Eduard Schmutzer, professor of government at WTSU; Mrs. Ardis Martin of Amarillo and Don Markham, professor of art at Amarillo College.

Dr. Caballero, who acted as moderator of the panel opened the discussion by quoting from a current book on the market: "The youth of our time are creative...art is no longer only to be found in galleries and museums."

Markham fielded the question "what does art do and is it worth doing" by saying "I think for me it would be hard to define art and therefore it is hard for me to say it is doing anything."

"Things that will be done by our young people now will be art and will be worthwhile because it was worth doing," he added.

Mrs. Martin said she felt that "in the depths of every creature there has been this certain necessity to project something other than the utalitarian aspect of life."

"The only difference between the artist and nuerotic is that the artist is able to create and accept this necessity," she said. "The nuerotic turns inward and is a sick person."

Speaking of the current interest in art by young people, Fox said "I wonder if its doing more for art in the future... what we are doing is getting more people involved in art."

"I think a work of art cannot be a work of art unless there is someone to receive it," he said. "Instead of having men interested in art maybe you could have 'man' interested in art."

Dr. Schmutzer said that while it may not be possible to define art "perhaps you can define a certain function of art."

"It is a way of projecting in some form certain ideas," he said. "It comes down to a value judgement...based on particular standards of a period."

Dr. Schmutzer emphasized there is a difference in the concept of art even geographically explaining that in "Eastern" art "man is only a little part of the totality" and in "Western" art "man is the central part of society."

"Recently the artist has become more of a part of the social movement," he said. "He becomes an activist for the new world."

Dr. Schmutzer and Markham disagreed briefly when Dr. Schmutzer said "it is only art when it performs a cerain function."

"Do you know whether it provides a function now or 20 years from now?" asked Markham. "Does art make its noblest contribution when it serves an assigned function in a modern society?"

Fox added "Can art exist if the monetary means limit it?"

"In most theaters today the function is entertainment," Fox said. "When you get the entertainment dominating you lose a great deal of art."

Fox seemingly summed up the discussion and accounted for the small audience at the panel discussion when he added "I think that true art through the ages has been predominantly for the few."

Sunday Forums Study Survival

License Check Will Begin Inside County

Canyon's two highway patrolmen will begin checking drivers in this area for valid drivers license, according to announcement by Sgt. Jack Crownover of Amarillo.

"Figures just released by the Texas Department of Public Safety reveal that many of the more serious accidents are involving unlicensed drivers," Crownover said.

The sergeant said the checking of licenses "is not meant to be harassment of the licensed legal driver and I ask their understanding in this venture."

The DPS figures show that 9.6 per cent of persons involved in fatal accidents during the first six months of 1969 were unlicensed.

Crownover said about 400,000 unlicensed drivers are using the streets and highways in Texas.

Will's Importance Is Topic For Club

"The Importance of Having a Will" was the subject of local attorney Elton Cox as he spoke to about 25 members of the Heritage Woman's Club Monday evening.

Cox, who is associated with the firm of Williams and Cox and is city attorney for Canyon, stressed to the club the importance of guardianship and trusts and discussed the differences gained from the estate when a will is written and without a will.

He stressed the importance of having a will in the event of minor children in the family and large estate holdings. He concluded with a brief discussion of handwritten wills.

Cox, a graduate of the University of Texas Law School, was introduced on the program by Mrs. Wilton Manley. He was formerly associated with West Texas State University as an assistant professor of business law.

A business meeting for the club was held prior to the program with Mrs. Roy McGregor leading the pledge; Mrs. Manley leading the collect; and Mrs. Wayne Lamber conducting the roll call and minutes of the last meeting.

Introduced as club guests Monday evening were Mrs. Bob Kitchen, Mrs. David Duncan and Mrs. Wayne Matthews.

During the business meeting it was announced that district convention will be held in Shamrock April 2-3 and that the HWC will provide key chain favors and table decorations featuring Holly Sugar. Members voted during the meeting to pay registration fees at the district session.

Lou Ann Cowart Plans To Wed Crisler July 3

Mr. and Mrs. O.P. Cowart of Riverside, California, formerly of Canyon, announce the engagement of their daughter, Lou Ann, to Jesse Shattuck Crisler of Chandler, Arizona.

The wedding will be at St. Francis Chapel of the Mission Inn in Riverside July 3.

A graduate of Canyon High School, Miss Cowart received her Bachelor of Music degree from Trinity University in San Antonio and did graduate work at Kansas University. She is presently employed with Riverside Unified School District.

Pleasantview HD Club Has Color Topic

Pleasantview Home Demonstration Club met recently at the home of Mrs. Cristler Crain with seven members and one guest, Mrs. Becky Hall, home demonstration agent, president.

Mrs. Hall presented the second program in the color control series for the club.

The business meeting was presided over by Mrs. Bill Head, president, as club members answered roll call with a "special talent I'd like to have". Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved and an appreciation note from Mrs. J.H. Barrett for her fiftieth wedding anniversary gifts from club members was read.

Various reports were given by standing chairman and the council report was by Mrs. John Winters. Council recommendations were read and approved and Mrs. H.M. Stokes was named as club reporter for the remainder of the year. Changes in the council constitution were also read and approved.

Next club meeting was planned as a luncheon to be held March 25 at the B.L. Hufnagle home.

A salad course was served following the meeting to Mesdames J.H. Barrett, Earl Burtz, Cristler Crain, Bill Head, B.L. Hufnagle, H.M. Stokes, John Winters and Mrs. Hall.

SICKROOM FLOWERS OR PLANTS ARE NOT HARMFUL

It is not true that flowers or plants in their rooms can harm sick persons. Medical authorities agree that they could not possibly use up enough oxygen, or give up sufficient carbon dioxide to harm the occupant.

It is true that some people, not too many, are allergic to some of the exotic odors of certain flowers, especially lilies or roses. Also, in crowded wards there is little space available for them. Some understaffed hospitals do not have the labor to take care of flowers.

YOU OR YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a delivery. We will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people rely on us for their health needs. We welcome requests for delivery service and charge accounts.

Flood Survey Begins

The U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, at the request of the City Commission, will compile a study of potential flood areas in Canyon during the next 10 months.

Howard Northcutt, city manager, said he was contacted by Terry Kimbrough, with the Corps of Engineers in Tulsa, Okla.

"In January of 1968, the council requested a flood study be compiled for the city," Northcutt said. "We received word from the Corps of Engineers that they are now starting the project."

Northcutt said the project, which findings are expected to be made public about Jan. 1, 1971, will cost the city nothing.

"This was made available through the Texas Water Development Board, acting as agent for the federal government," he said.

Northcutt said Kimbrough told him the study would begin with a compilation of the history of flooding in the city. Kimbrough was provided a list of longtime residents to contact in regard to the history.

Next step would be mapping and surveying of certain areas in the city to determine their susceptibility to flooding.

Color Basics Series Continues

A series of three programs on color and color relationships in the home is being given for the home demonstration clubs of the county during February, March and April by Becky Hall, home demonstration agent.

At the March club meetings, the second in the series is devoted to the eight basic types of color control and are not designed to limit but to furnish a framework in which it takes less skill to combine the properties of color for pleasing effects.

According to Mrs. Hall, "the color study is based on three primary color theories and three dimensions: hue, value and intensity" and she demonstrates the eight basic types of color control and discusses the values of each theory and members are then allowed to decide which color control type is most similar.

In the eight basic types of color control she passes a sheet to club members which discusses 1. the similar hues and contrasting values and intensities of a combination of colors from neighboring color-families; 2. the contrasting hues which hold a combination together using light, medium and dark color with contrasting hues, value and intensity; 3. similar values using contrasting hues and intensities but holding the combination of colors together by using light, medium and dark colors; and 4. contrasting values which hold the combination together by using only one or neighboring hues and only weak or strong colors.

Mrs. Hall stresses in her program the easy approaches to handling both hue and intensity of color.

She outlines the intensities of color as 1. similar intensities which use contrasting hues and values but which hold the combination together by using only weak or strong colors; 2. contrasting intensities which use only one or neighboring hues of light, medium and dark colors; 3. similar hues, values and intensities which are held very close together by using neighboring color family lines; and 4. contrasting hues, values and intensities which with their contrasts give a combination of great variety.

She states that in some color selections variety is gained through careful use of colors but more skill is sometimes required in handling the color.

The final program in the series will be given to home demonstration clubs in April and will be arranged as a workshop so that each club member will have the opportunity to make a color plan for a room or home using actual color swatches in carpet samples, resilient floor samples and paint chips for walls.

Basic information handed out in the color series of programs is a booklet "Color In Your Home" which is published at Texas A & M University for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The booklet is available at the home demonstration agent's office in the Randall County Courthouse free for all residents interested in further study on color compliments for the home.

Variety Ring Shows Pictures

Next meeting of the club will be at the Earl Burtz home March 20 with Reeta Tucker as hostess.

Present were Mesdames Earl Burtz, Leslie Neal, Levi Cole, E. P. Harding, Jeannette Robbins, Reeta Tucker, J. P. Hammons, Leonard Winters, Ben Priddy, P. L. Pitt and Mae Johnson.

CHS Sprint Relay Team. . .Erwin, Harper, Hoover and Carlile.

Eagle Tracksters Return With Four First Places

Those amazing Eagles of Canyon High returned from the Levelland Invitational track tourney Saturday with three individual first places and a sparkling sweep by the school's sprint relay team.

The sprint team, composed of David Erwin, John Hoover, David Harper and Jerry Carslile, ran a smooth 44-seconds flat in the 440 relay to come in with an almost three-second edge over second-place Levelland.

Canyon's Frank Belcher cranked out a 4:43 mile to easily capture the distance event. Plainview came closest in the event with a 4:45 as the host school managed only a 4:48.

Harper left the sprint team long enough to trot over to the field area and win the pole vault with an 11-feet-6 effort. Meanwhile, Hoover was still in winning form as he captured the 400 in 52 seconds flat.

Canyon track coach Jack York said Monday he was "pleasantly surprised" with the outcome of the weekend meet.

"We thought we had a chance with the mile and probably with the pole vault," he said. "But that 44-seconds in the sprint relay is the best so far in the district and should be competitive during the rest of the season."

York said the 77.3 points the team earned, which placed them second in the meet behind Levelland, was "very good" for this time of the year.

"Hoover won the 400 after competing in the relay event and he still wasn't really pushed," York said. "We think he can beat 52 seconds as the season continues."

The Eagles travel to Hereford Saturday for their second meet of the season which the coach said should be "a real good test."

Three years later, Lindsey took a farm implement dealership and in 1952 he sold the car dealership. He sold the implement company in 1959 and still continues to farm and ranch in Randall and Armstrong Counties.

The mayor's community service began in 1937 when he joined the volunteer fire department. He was a member of the department 28 years until he became mayor in 1965.

He served on the Canyon school board from 1941 to 1947 and was a director of the Chamber of Commerce from 1942 to 1946.

In 1954 he was elected to the city commission and held the post until 1958. He was appointed to fill out unexpired terms from 1961 to 1963 and in 1963 was again elected to the commission.

He was elected mayor in 1966.

Through his term in office, the mayor has backed the need in Canyon for a city library of adequate facility.

Mayor Lindsey and his wife, Katherine, have a son and two daughters.

Mrs. Warwick is a Canyon pioneer woman who has watched history made in Randall County and has recorded the happenings in a book published last year called The Randall County Story.

Mrs. Warwick came to the county in 1908 from Jefferson, Iowa, with her parents and five brothers and sisters.

She graduated from Canyon High School in 1909 and was one of the 37 members of the first graduating class of West Texas State Teachers College in 1911.

In December of that year, Mrs. Warwick married Clyde W. Warwick, a young journalism graduate from Iowa State University.

Warwick with his wife beside him, edited The Canyon News 45 years.

Mrs. Warwick wrote her own column in the paper, called "Around the Town." She also wrote stories of pioneers of the area.

During Warwick's duty in the First World War, Mrs. Warwick was superintendent of schools in Dimmit and taught the second grade 1 year in Canyon after the war.

In 1920, Warwick bought the Canyon News.

Mrs. Warwick's untiring interest in history has led her into natural work with the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum.

For many years she has been a member of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society. She has served as president of the Woman's Organization of the American Legion, of the Ex-Students Association, Woman's Book Club and the Canyon Garden Club.

She has also served as state chairman of the Student Loan Scholarship Fund of the Daughters of the American Revolution. She is a past regent of Esther McCrory chapter of the DAR.

Mrs. Warwick is also active in the Methodist Church for which she has been president of the Woman's Missionary Society.

For several years she was a member of the genealogical board of the Potter-Randall County Library.

With the chamber of commerce, Mrs. Warwick served as a board member in charge of welcoming newcomers to the city. She served on the City Park Board. She has also served on the Health Board, Cemetery Board, and Potter and Randall County T.B. Board. She also served on the Community Concert board.

alternatives to solution of the hospital problem.

1. "We can maintain what we have but if we take this route, as years go by we will be less and less able to serve the community," he said.

2. "We can try to get the county or the city to take over the the hospital but neither group has shown much interest in operating it."

3. "We could form a hospital district to obtain tax revenue for a hospital."

4. "We can construct an adequate hospital financed by contributions, sale of present property and federal assistance."

5. "We could try to borrow enough money to add on to what we have."

Dr. Charles Nester gave a brief history of Neblett Memorial Hospital.

It was constructed as a 6-bed hospital in 1937. Additions were made in 1939 and 1941 and then was expanded by 20 beds in 1948.

The latest addition came in 1963. The hospital now has 35 beds.

Thompson pointed out that accreditation of the hospital is becoming more difficult each year because of the age of the hospital building.

Mrs. Hull said members of the comittee will be notified when time is set for its next meeting.

scholastic League.

He said, though, the interscholastic leage has voted that girls' track will become a recognized sport during the school year 1971-72.

The track programs would be in the junior high and high schools.

"I think it would probably be a good thing to add the program," he said.

No action was taken on the proposal.

In other business, the board approved the reemployment of 127 teachers for all Canyon schools.

They appointed Earl Marrs, Fred Begert and Larry Hooper to the tax equalization board and named Bill Patke, Dick Daughty and Tom Black as alternates.

The board also affirmed a standing policy that school principals be allowed to make the decision on what studio will take students' pictures for the yearbook and personal use.

But, they instructed the principals to compare prices, quality and speed so as to get the best deal.

killing trees and fish in the creek, into which the effluent flows.

A state team investigated the problem and ultimately the plant site was approved.

In mid-March of 1969, the city finally received approval from the federal agency for allocation of the funds asked.

The type plant, which was built at the site, was listed on the bids in March 1969 as an alternate.

However, it was accepted and construction began in July.

J. T. Brodie Construction of Amarillo was general contractor for the plant.

Called an oxydation-aeration plant, the sewer facility has a daily capacity of about 1,250,000 gallons.

Bill McMorries of the engineering consultant firm, said the plant should be adequate for a population of about 12,500. However, he said, when used in conjunction with the old sewer plant the capacity would be raised to handle a population in excess of 17,000.

McMorries said the main advantage to the plant is its economy in maintenance and effectiveness in neutralizing the sewage.

The engineer said it will take about two to three months to have the plant operating fully.

Although the election code says the county and/or the county executive committee shall determine the rate of pay for election judges and clerks, Dr. Garner indicated that it would not be necessary.

"Unless we come up with a lot of money we will do what we did last year and the year before that" he said "They won't get anything."

When it became time to determine the time and place for the precinct convention, County Clerk LeRoy Hutton offered to go down the hallway "to see" what the democrats are going to do."

"I personally don't care what the democrats are going to do," Dr. Garner said, but when Hutton returned and announced the democrats did not have a quorun at their meeting Dr. Garner quipped "a chuckle is so ordered."

The executive committee set 8 p.m. May 9 as the time of the county convention, with the Canyon High School Auditorium to serve as the place.

Joe Abrahamson, who will serve as election judge in Precinct 12, reported that for the "last two elections the American flag has not been present outside the Alice Landergin School."

"I would be of the opinion you should suggest to the county chairman a flag should be flown," Dr. Garner said.

combat only those who belong to certain religions.

He pointed to several other cases in which similar decisions were handed down by federal courts.

"The appellate court in New Orleans is very enlightened in Selective service and civil rights," he told his audience, praising the Fifth Circuit Court.

Clarkson told the group that if "you choose your words carefully and do not allow yourself to be bluffed by hardened military officials you can get your CO status."

Clarkson said the war against the Nazis in the 1940s was a just war.

"Many of us question that this war (the war in Vietnam) is a just war," he went on.

He said that courts have not yet discovered the Nuremberg Principle which he says is the principle that a man's conscience is the paramount authority in his life.

Clarkson was contemptous of General Louis Hershey, former director of selective service, and of draft boards in general.

"Local draft boards are nothing more than sinecures for old ladies and gentlemen to keep them busy," he declared.

Clarkson read off the names and addresses of several publications which might give information to young men seeking to avoid the draft. One of the publications named was a Los Angeles publication and another he referred to as an underground newspaper at Fort Bliss.

The speaker praised Senator Ralph Yarborough and said he should be reelected. He noted in passing that a member of the law firm with which he is associated in Odessa is a campaign manager for Yarborough.

Clarkson apologized to the group for the shortness of his hair.

"I usually have longer hair than I have tonight," he said, "But I'm running for the board of regents of Odessa Junior College and I had to cut my hair and raise my sideburns to win."

Clarkson termed himself a professional draft dodger saying he was able to stay in school until he was 26.

A Roman Catholic, he said he studied for the priesthood but decided to change to law. He received his law degree from St. Mary's in San Antonio two years ago.

He said he went to school under a ministerial deferment while studying for the priesthood.

School Socials Play Role In Education

BY LORENA MILLER

Social events are included as a part of the education of school children and it is the philosophy of the Canyon Public Schools that good teaching can and should be done along with well planned and organized social functions for students.

According to John Sommer, high school principal at Canyon High School "activities of the school social in the past have included dancing, refreshments, table games and at one time even included ping-pong in the gymnasium and films in the auditorium."

"It depends on the students' needs," stated Sommer. According to a reccent survey among students the most interest in social activities for students should include dancing as number one. Table games were ranked second among student preferences shown by the survey.

At the high school, past practice included all-school student socials as often, sometimes, as once a month but the averages is now down to about 4 or 5 all-school student socials per year and due to increased prices in live dance bands and other considerations this may, in the future, even be cut more and with this cut would come more "special" type socials for the school, according to Sommer.

He explained that funds for the all-school socials are split equally among three classes of the high school and the Student Council.

"In the event we cut down the number of socials," stated Sommer "those remaining on the agenda would be designed as bigger events such as a Mid-Winter Ball for coronation of Mr. and Miss CHS and things of this sort."

After each social, according to Sommer, an evaluation is made in relation to planning for future socials. Socials are evaluated on the amount of student participation, and needs of the students being fulfilled.

"The question often arises," said Sommer, "on whether to admit other than CHS students to the socials and our policy is that the all-school socials are open only to current Canyon High School students. This rule is waived during the after-game homecoming dance where ex-students of Canyon high School are welcomed."

The high school socials are arranged in such a manner that chores are handed out to the classes to include refreshments being brought or furnished by the sophomore class, decorations by the junior class, and arrangements for the band by the senior class.

Along with the all-school social functions, high school students who have membership in the various social and professional styled organizations of the school have their own separate activities and socials for members.

Each year, the school departments such as band, choir and sports arrange their own social highlight of the year with banquets and awards and the junior class entertains the senior class each spring to round out the school year.

Canyon Junior High School will top off the school year with an all-school styled end-of-school party for all students, according to Dave Corley, principal.

"We do not include other socials in our agenda," stated Corley. He explained with the completion of the new Canyon Junior High School building more socials may be included in the curriculum in the future.

He said that the "junior high students are involved to a large degree in athletics, band and choir with about ½ of the student body included in athletic events and the two large school bands and class choirs."

The end-of-school party will be "restricted to junior high students and will include dancing, ping-pong, and games and funds for refreshments will be taken from the student activity fund," according to Corley.

Socials for the elementary level at Rex Reeves and Gene Howe Elementary School are very similar, according to Oscar Hinger and Luther Lawless, respective principals.

In the first three grades planned socials include five each year which are set for Halloween, Christmas, Valentines, Easter and the end of school.

In grades 4, 5 and 6, the amount of planned socials are cut to three including Christmas, Valentines and end of school.

Parents and homeroom teachers work together in making arrangements for these parties which are conducted during the final school period of the respective holiday. Socials do not exceed 60 minutes in any case, according to the policy of the elementary schools.

According to the principals, Hinger and Lawless, "an act of thoughtfulness and appreciation on the part of students at which time a gift is presented to the teacher or student teacher is not considered a class social or surprise party and there is no need for refreshments at such an occasion."

There are exceptions, however, noted Hinger, when this is allowed to avoid embarrassment to either a parent or teacher but as a general rule the refreshments and other party plans are reserved to the designated social events.

"We recognize that parents like to observe birthdays in the primary grades (1, 2, 3) and although we do not encourage these we ask for a limitation of a maximum 30 minutes during the last part of the school day," related Hinger. "Birthday parties should be discontinued in the school room in the intermediate grades."

"At Christmas time," related the principal "teachers may initiate an exchange of Christmas gifts among the children at school provided the teacher keeps in mind the economic differences among students."

"It is also satisfactory for baskets to be made up for needy people in the community provided no effort is made to get contributions from every child in the classroom," according to the school's guidelines.

All end-of-school activities should be planned before the last week of school as that last week is considered to be "dead week" and socials are considered to be out of order. It is understood, however, that if the teachers would like to have refreshments for themselves and their students without party plans on the last part of the final day this will be in keepng with the school policy, however, this must be done without parent participation and after grade level planning is completed.

In addition, special activities which involve gifts or treats for the children require that consideration should be given to the position of other teachers in relationship to this as undue pressure could be brought on other teachers by these special events. Prior to plans of this nature, a discussion is warranted with the principal and other teachers.

Purposes for parties in the elementary grades are designed to 1.) give children experience in planning, 2.) to identify a definite purpose, 3.) to teach children social manner needed on such occasions, and 4.) to stimulate a taste for finer things which some students do not have other opportunities to participate in.

"We really feel like we're needed," she said. "There are so many little things we can do to make the men's job easier."

Mrs. Wilma Townsend, former Canyon resident but now a director of the Hereford women's division, urged the women to begin the organization.

"I've lived in Canyon," she said, "and I know what you all can do if you just make up your minds to do it."

Environmental Teach-In Gets Student Impetus

A proposed "Environmental Teach-in" at West Texas State University starting April 22 gained impetus Tuesday night as 17 WTSU students gathered at the Episcopal Student Center to outline plans for the week-long observance.

John Green, a member of the executive committee planning the teach-in, presented to the students ideas the committee has been analyzing during the initial stages.

The program is planned to make students and members of the general community more aware of the dangers to current and future societies from such threats as pollution and overpopulation.

"I don't think one day lends itself to doing what we can do," Greene said. "We are probably talking more in terms of one week if we can fill it constructively."

The WTSU senior said one of the ideas the committee is considering is sponsoring a panel discussion "with the people involved in pollution."

"We thought of inviting representatives from the refineries and the feedlots to discuss remedies," he said. "The members of the committee felt it would be better if we didn't put it in such a way as to put them on a platform where they are going to be lynched."

Greene said plans have also been made "to get the faculty to discuss with their classes that day ecology as it relates to their desciplines."

Other plans Greene said the committee is investigating include:

●Working with other groups to have a town hall meeting in Amarillo so people can present their complaints about pollution as it effects them.

●Obtaining free mailing privileges at the campus post office in order to get in touch with all the students.

●Get the district attorney to discuss local laws against pollution. . "there probably are laws against excessive exhaust and they are probably not being enforced because 30 per cent of the people probably have noticeable exhaust problems."

●Arranging with local television stations to air special programs April 22 concerned with pollution in the Panhandle.

●Having contests between local fraternities and sororities. . ."We could have a contest to see who could collect the most beer cans. We would at least get rid of a lot of beer cans but the main thing is to dramatize that these things are strung all along the highway."

Arranging guest appearances on local television shows. . ."Someone thought that with some of the people they have on their shows they must be looking for people and programs rather desperately."

Greene reminded the small gathering that "there is a million things to do but there is a definite limit in time and manpower and money."

The "Committee For An Environmental Teach-In" will meet again March 31 to conclude plans for the event.
